The council then adjourned.

TURNER CONCERT

By the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette.

A very large and appreciative audience greeted the first appearance this season of the Schubert Symphony club and lady quartette at Turner hall last night. No-fault among the audience was a large sprinkling of Houston's leading amateur vocalists and musicians, who, in anticipation of an expected musical treat, were not disappointed.

The quartette opened the evening's program with a delightful rendition of "Swinging Song," adapted from Wagner's "Flying Dutchman," and on being recalled gave the always popular selection, "The Old Kentucky Home."

The ladies were dressed becomingly in decorative costumes in the highest shades of green and cream, with white satin ribbons, trimmed with yellow satin ribbon. They are Misses Annie Deane, first; first piano; Winifred Piper, first alto; Louise Zundt, second alto; and May Davis, second soprano.

Little Tommy Purcell, the violinist of the company, is about 12 years of age and is a decided favorite of the Lord family, appearing as a child in the rendition of "Pomp and Circumstance," as well as the encore "The Star Spangled Banner," which he played with a maturity and skill that he is a very young prodigy.

On Mr. Louis McKie's devoted the pleasure of entertaining the audience from an extraordinary point of view. His distinct and pleasant manner, his delivery was such a monotone. His work on the whole, however, was clever, especially in the encore, "A Farmer's Experience in a Farming Year," which seemed to suit him.

Miss Mabel Delaney was very accompanist and played herself the possession of a clear, rich soprano voice.

On the program with M. McKie next appeared a very interesting selection, "The Star Spangled Banner," which was given with a very fine accompaniment.

with various permits against the prompt compliance on the part of the parties most interested.

The entertainment was one of the best of the season, given by the Turner club, and especially pleasing was the versatility of the program.

BADGES OF HONOR.

Sent to Those Patriotic to Their Fatherland.

Some time ago Mr. Alex Bartillog of this city noticed that Emperor William of Germany, in order to more particularly honor the memory of his father, William, the great emperor, upon the occasion of the celebration of his 100th birthday, dedicated a medal, to be made out of the cannon captured during the wars of 1864, '66, '70 and '71, to be sent to all veterans of those wars, in whatever part of the world they might reside.

Mr. Bartillog, though a citizen of this country, during the war of '70 and '71 has been back to his fatherland to offer his services in his country's cause, and after peace was declared he returned to the land of his birth.

When Mr. Bartillog noticed the proclamation of the emperor, he decided to have, as a memento, placed on his coat of arms, the medal being the one which was awarded to the veterans of the war.

PROMINENT COLORADIANS.

Members of the Colorado State Senate with the Farmers' Congress.

Two of the most interesting characters with the Farmers' congress delegation, which is now on a tour of Texas, are Hon. J. C. Evans and Hon. Charles Barlow, members of the Colorado state senate.

Mr. Evans comes from Fort Collins, a point north of Denver, and his colleague registers from the city of Trinidad, which is within a few miles of the southern state line. Senator Evans has resided among the mountains and mines of Colorado for years and recently has become quite a politician in politics. He refers to Sen. or Teller as "the grand old man," rejecting that such men were instrumental in 85 per cent of Colorado's vote going to William Jennings Bryan in 1896. This record was the best of any State in the last National campaign, and should the issue be presented in 1900, the voters of Colorado will repeat their performance of two years ago.

The most recent election in Colorado was a "turn down" for Senator Wolcott, who it is claimed actively participated in the campaign, to the end that he might be returned to Washington at the expiration of his present term. It is more than likely, according to the best advice, that Governor Alva Adams will be sent to the upper house of congress.

Senator Barlow is looked upon in the Trinidad senatorial district as its most prominent man. For twenty-six years he has been a State senator, and today his record for holding the office is greater in point of years than that of any other legislator in the United States. He was first elected to the legislature in 1872, before he had attained the majority age, but he explains his age by the fact that he was born in 1852, and by common consent of everybody concerned, he took his seat and voted for his people.

Several years ago, voters of the Trinidad district, who had elected him to the State office and without much opposition secured for him the nomination for treasurer on the democratic ticket. At the subsequent election, when he was defeated, his popularity was shown by the fact that he ran 14,000 votes ahead of the ticket. His people then proceeded to return him to the State senate, by a larger vote than ever, and he has held the office continuously since.

When he was elected to the State senate, he was selected to frame a constitution, Mr. Barlow was chosen one of the leaders.

In addition to being prominent in Colorado politics, the senator is a representative of the Mexican government in the State, and is generally known as the "Mexican" to report. He is a gentleman of Spanish extraction, but thoroughly an American citizen, and upon one occasion told the people of Mexico, when asked if he did not mind the fact that he was a foreigner, that such a proposition was an insult to an American—that there was no better land than the one in which he resided.

When not giving his attention to his State and national duties, he spends his time on his ranch, comprised of over 400 acres and located near the city of Trinidad.

THE LOCAL STAGE.

Punch Robertson's Company Played to Big Houses.

The Punch Robertson company appeared at Sweeney & Coombs' opera house last night and gave what Mr. Robertson advertised that it would give a good performance for the price. The price was 30 cents for a parquette seat and as this was the initial performance of the combination the season ladies were admitted free if accompanied by a person holding a valid ticket. The result was an audience which packed the house and which manifested its appreciation by almost continuous applause. The play, which is called "Under the Palm Tree," is a bit inconsistent at times and one or two features, notably Miss Louise's "hand" and the "hand" of the American—that there was no better land than the one in which he resided.

CITY BRIVITIES.

Harpers thieves are reported to be doing a lively business in the city.

Now that the Fruit, Flower and Vegetable Festival is over, everybody is preparing for holidays.

Miss Leonard will give a sermon on the night of Tuesday, the 20th instant, at her home, No. 1116 Dallas avenue.

A woman named Maggie Ford, suffering from an overdose of laudanum, was sent to the hospital yesterday by the health authorities.

The fourteen special police appointed for the festival were off duty yesterday. They will resume work December 23 for the holidays.

There are undelivered telegrams at the office of the Western Union Telegraph company for Mrs. Huddleston, Rev. A. G. Scruse and R. Mosely.

County Judge E. H. Vanner yesterday performed his first marriage ceremony, the contracting parties being Miss Kitty Walker and J. Baker.

Citizens who were awarded premiums at the Fruit, Flower and Vegetable Festival are requested to call for same at the rooms of the festival committee.

Retail merchants are all gratified at the business done by them during the festival week and the trade seems to be keeping up for the holidays.

The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon on a still alarm on account of some burning grass at the corner of Webster and William streets.

Mr. B. L. Snow of this city and Miss Sallie Washburn of San Antonio were married last night at 9 o'clock at the residence of Rev. Dr. H. H. H. of the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

Mr. J. M. Callison and Miss Daisy Stockbrides, both of Eagle Lake, were married at 7:30 last night at the Central Christian church. Rev. J. C. Mason officiating. A large number of relatives and friends were present.

Mr. Adams delivered another temperance lecture last night at the Central Christian church to a good audience. Mr. Adams is a very forcible and logical talker and carried his subjects without a hitch.

The work of laying the big water main on Main street, suspended during the festival, resumed yesterday. Messrs. Hipp & Key, who have the contract for laying the water pipe, will commence their work in a few days. Plans for laying this street will be opened on January 3.

Messrs. Morrison & Fournier, directory publishers, have completed the canvass for names in the city. They have thus far collected the letter "A." While about one-sixth of the names in last year's directory beginning with the letter "A" have not appeared in the new book, yet the increase over and above that shows an increase in population on the one hand and a decrease on the other.

A member of the Farmers National congress, Mr. T. M. Meyers of Iowa, was robbed of his purse containing $10 in money and some papers while riding on the Houston Heights belt during his visit here Saturday. The thief occupied a seat in the rear of Mr. Meyers and made his escape from the car before any one could intercept him, jumping from the car as it was going at full speed.

President Childress and Secretary Richardson have not yet been able to figure up the financial outcome of the Fruit, Flower and Vegetable Festival. They can not be done until all the bills are paid. It was the hope of the management to realize enough on the festival to pay the expenses of the festival and to resort to an appeal to the people for help. While this has not been done, the enterprise was a success financially.

By Which Steam Fire Engines Are Made More Effective.

Chief of Fire Department Hussey has made a discovery, or rather has applied a principle that is not entirely new in hydraulics by which he secures much better service out of his fire engines.

Experience, assisted by his close observation, has demonstrated to him that water forced through a nozzle acquires a rotary motion that tends to dissipate its force and disintegrate its volume the moment it leaves the nozzle. To break this rotary motion he has devised a device which results by keeping the stream in compact volume, he has equipped all of his fire engines with cross blades that divide the circumference of the nozzle into four segments. These blades prevent the water from revolving as it leaves the nozzle and force it out like a rifle ball in one solid mass thus assuring an accelerated force and adding at least 10 per cent to the carrying force of the stream.

A HOME INSTITUTION.

A Texas Life Insurance Company With Headquarters at Houston.

The Post takes pleasure in presenting a brief outline of the Fraternal Life association, as furnished by its general secretary, Mr. B. P. Bailey. This is a mutual life insurance order, organized and managed by Texas people, with headquarters at Houston.

The association was chartered at the beginning of the year and embracing the war and the political excitement occasioned by the city, county and State elections, has gone steadily ahead until today it is thoroughly established. Organized by some of the best business men of Texas, among whom are found several of the most prominent and experienced fraternal insurance men of America, men who have for twenty years and more devoted their time and talents to life insurance, it appeals to the people as an institution deserving confidence and worthy support.

The founders of the association based its plans on the experience of the "old line" companies and the history of fraternal insurance. It is not disputed by those familiar with the facts, that the old line companies have charged too much for life insurance, as evidenced by the large reserves they have accumulated in a comparatively short time, nor can it be denied, on the other hand, that the fraternal insurers charged too little to be able to guarantee any uniformity in cost, so there should be a safe middle ground between the two systems. With this idea as a basis the plans of the association were formed and its rates fixed at such a figure as would provide for the death rate estimated by the mortality tables and for an adequate reserve. These rates were formed after a careful study of all the data on the subject that either "old line" or "fraternal" history furnished, and this can be applied by men trained by many years experience in life insurance matters, so there can be no question of their adequacy.

The Fraternal Life association is one of the few organizations in the State that can be a power for good. It is a financial way, by keeping at home some of the vast sum that annually leaves the State for life insurance, and besides, as it will not be confined to Texas alone, but will extend its branches to all States, the Union, it will bring here money from the outside, and no State or country offers a safer or more profitable field for investment. The volume of its business can not be prophesied, but similar institutions, starting as it does, have in their existence of less than twenty-five years collected and expended many millions of dollars.

The association is offered by as carefully and competent men as can be found, as those who know the life and character of officers handling money, or receiving funds, are bonded in sufficient amount in surety companies, and every safeguard is thrown around its transactions. While it secures business on its merits, being a Texas institution, in safe and competent hands, it should especially appeal to the belief in keeping "Texas money in Texas."

The following are its officers: W. A. Childress, Houston, president; T. M. Murray, Kaufman, vice president; B. P. Bailey, Houston, general secretary; P. L. Deane, Temple, general treasurer of benefit fund; A. F. Stitt, Houston, general transfer agent; John L. Terrell, Terrell, general attorney; J. H. Ross, M. D., Houston, general medical examiner; Wm. P. H. Bailey, Dallas, chairman finance committee; P. H. Bailey, Clarksville, chairman trustees; C. S. McGaughey, Fort Worth, superintendent of collection.

The general secretary, B. P. Bailey, Cotton Exchange Building, Houston, will cheerfully furnish any one interested with other information as they may wish. A few good men, who have had experience in collecting life insurance, can obtain profitable employment collecting business for the association.
